December Meeting

John Carruth and the Eighth Regiment Band of the Georgia Volunteer Infantry provided a spectacular presentation of Civil War music. Three renditions of Dixie's Land was a true crowd pleaser and brought all to their feet in roaring approval. This music presentation was greatly received by all and we look forward to a return visit by John and his talented musicians.

As an interesting sidelight to the December

January Program

Our January program will feature noted author and leading expert in Civil War photography Bob Zeller who will speak to us "The Best Photos of the Civil War". This program will feature a visual presentation of period stereographic photographs in 3-D. We will view the program wearing 3-D glasses.

Bob has written or co-written nine trade books and publications covering topics covering the Daytona 500, Civil War photography, and World War II memorabilia. His latest book, The Blue and Gray in Black and White: History of Civil War Photography, is the first narrative history of the exploits of the greatest Civil War photographers which include Matthew Brady, Alexander Gardner, and the Confederate photographer, George S. Cook, the world's first combat photographer.

Especially noteworthy is Bob's groundbreaking book, The Civil War in Depth-History in 3-D, which presented for the first time a compilation of Civil War photographs in their original stereoscopic format.

Bob's slide presentation will feature the best 3-D images from his 3-D books, as well as new finds. This program promises to be intellectually stimulating while giving us a unique presentation style of 3-D viewing!
